

NATIONAL WORLD WAR I MUSEUM 2009 ACCESSIONS TO THE COLLECTIONS

DORAN L. CART, CURATOR
JONATHAN CASEY, MUSEUM ARCHIVIST

All accessions are donations unless otherwise noted. An accession is defined as something added to the permanent collections of the National World War I Museum. Each accession represents a separate “transaction” between donor (or seller) and the Museum. An accession can consist of one item or hundreds of items. The year’s most dramatic example of the latter is the Hauber donation, 2009.99.

Format = museum accession number + donor + brief description.
